

Distributor Spotlight

Located in Franklin, Tennessee, Quantum Medical's tight-knit group works to provide a "conception-to-completion" service to healthcare facilities across the country.

Waterloo has had the pleasure to work alongside this team from the earliest days of their inception, and as part of a larger corporation out of Miami, Florida. It's been fun to watch this division grow! Dedicated project managers cover the entirety of US territories, and offer personalized, professional services to both renovated and newly constructed medical facilities.

Backed by a professional team of managers and support staff from both Miami and Franklin, Quantum Medical offers the complete package. Working closely with construction staff during the early stages of planning ensures that facilities receive the medical carts and storage solutions that will best fit their needs once the doors open to patients.
